THE COURTS.

TRIAL OF OWEN HAND-MURDER IN THE FIRST DEGREE.

The trial of Owen Hand for alleged homicide, in stabbing James O'Donnell, at the South Brooklyn Gas Works, on the 11th of August last, was opened for the prosecution yesterday, Judge Gilbert presiding, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, by District-Attorney rris, who stated the particulars. The following is the before the stabbing: I sharpened it to cut Lynch's n; I never took it home, and did not sharpen it there; to not recollect Green asking me whose knife it was, or telling him it was unne; I did not sny to James Kirwin I do not recoilect Green asking me whose knife it was, or of telling him it was unset I did not say to James Kirwin that i had something which would send O'Donnell's soul to hell in two minnes if he struck me; after I stabbed him I turned round and threw the knife out of my hand and said, "I've stabbed him, and you can do what you like with me;" beannot swear that I looked back to see what he condition was; I got so excited that I cannot tell how long the nght lasted; he got up from his seat and he followed me about 12 feet; I suppose I struck him very hard with the knife. Re-direct—I had some talk with Kirwin about O'Donnell; I raid I never had any difficulty with him, but that he was sometimes pretty short tempered. Re-cross—I had some difficulties with him before, and also with other parties.

Ex-Judge Moore in summing up for the defense said the crime did not come properly within the definition of murder in the first degree. He read O'Donnell's dying statement, in which he said that the stabing had been done by Hand without any cause or provocation. The counsel said that the deposition did not contain the whole truth, as O'Donnell was not in a fit condition at the time to be pressed for dofails.

Judge Gilbert then charged the jury as to their duties in the case, and they retired, and after an hour's absence brought in a verdict finding the prisoner guilty of murder in the first degree.

BUSINESS IN THE U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.

Judge Benedict opened the October Term of the U. S. Circuit Court for business on the general calen-Only 14 Grand Jurors were present, and 20 more will be summoned to appear on Wednesday next, at 11 a. m., to which time the Grand Jurors present were dismissed.
Judge Benedict said he would take up the criminal calendar, and devote two weeks to the trial of such cases as Judge Benedict said he would take up the criminal carendar, and devote two weeks to the trial of such cases as the District-Attorney desired to move on, and also to such Revenue cases as the Court might be able to take up. The Court would take up no civil business. On Saturdsys the Court would hear motions in criminal and Revenue cases. The Petit Jury was then called. A telegraph operator was excused, on an excuse offered by him that he would be discharged if he served. An Astor House employe wanted to be excused, but the Court thought the Astor House could run without him. A man who had to leave his store in the "charge of a little boy who could not answer questions," and another who "would have to lock up his store," were also excused. Another panel of poit jurors was ordered for next Wednesday. The criminal calendar was then called and cases assigned. The trial of Calvin Willis, for sending obscene publications through the mails, was set down for Monday next; of Echert Ten Evck, the actor, for forging paymaster's checks, for the 26th inst.; of John B. Herman, the bounty fraud operator, for to-day; of John S. Biles, another alleged bounty-fraud operator, for the 21st inst., and the trials of ex-Cellector O'Callaghan and Owen Keenan, two leged bounty fraud operator, for the 21st inst. and the trais of ex-Collector O'Callaghan and Ower Keenin, two prominent politicians, indicted for illicit removal of whisky, were reserved for the present. In the case of two indictments found against Bernard Kupfer for illicit removal of whisky, the District-Attorney entered, by permission of the Court, nolle prosequis, having informed the Court that the case had been settled. An adjournment was then had until to-day.

SUIT AGAINST A NATIONAL BANK.

Some time ago the Merchants' National Bank of Washington, ceased operations and was wound up by the Treasury Department. A large amount of securities that it ought to have had in its vaults on deposit could not be found. It was alleged that they had been, by frauduent collusion, transferred to the custody of the Ocean National Bank of this city. A suit was commenced by the Government against the latter bank to recover the amount of the securities. By arrangement between Government counsel and counsel for the Ocean Bank, the suit was to be discontinued unless steps were taken on the day of the opening of the U.S. Circuit Court for the Southern District of New-York, for the October Term to bring the suit to trial. Subsequently District Attorney Pierrepont was instructed by the Government to ignore this arrangement and bring the suits to trial at an early day. On the first day of the October Term Judge Benedict, sitting in the United States Circuit Court, announced his intention of taking up only criminal and revenue cases during the term he will hold the Circuit, so that, although District-Attorney Pierrepont is auxious to have the matter disposed of at an early day, it will have to be put over for the present. up by the Treasury Department. A large amount of se-

Yesterday at the Tombs, before Justice Hogan, was continued the investigation in the case of Mr. Frederick Kapp, a lawyer of No. 4 Wall-st., who is charged, by Mrs. Augusta Baurman of Williamsburgh with having obtained $159 belonging to her by means of a forged indorsement of a Treasury bounty warrant. Henry C. He had also ascertained that Gustave Baurman, who had witnessed the receipt, had really died on April 5, 1864, one mouth after the date of the receipt. The signature of the latter on the receipt had been compared with a letter written by him, and found to be genuine. Mrs. Baurman was then questioned at length, but nothing was elicited. The case was then summed up at considerable length by the counsel on both sades, and the magistrate then took the papers, and received his decision. with having obtained $159 belonging to her by means of

THE JUMEL ESTATE. Bowen agt. Chase .- Supreme Court Circuit-Before Mr. Justice Ingraham.-This is one of the suits brought by Champlain Bowen to test his right to the estate of the late Madame Jumel. The right of the plaintiff depends on a question of pedigree, or rather of legitimacy of Madame Jamel and her alleged sister, under whom Mr. Chase claims. The only parties who can give testimony on this matter are very old people in Rhode Island. In 1867 a commission was issued for their examination. This suit was reached on the calendar. A postponement was asked by the plaintiff, on the ground that, notwithstanding the time the commission was issued, the feeblemess of the witnesses and the engagements of one of the Commission, and that it was not safe to go to trial without the evidence. The other side opposed delay, circulage that time enough had chapsed. The Court, after some discussion, and the unster over to enable the defendants to contrasilet the chiantifis affidavit. EIGHTEENTH ANNIVERSARY OF ST. LUKE'S

The Eighteenth Anniversary of St. Luke's Home for Indigent Christian Females was celebrated at the Home, No. 487 Hudson-st., yesterday afternoon. The Home has been established 18 years. At first there were but two large floors occupied, and they were rented. Now, there is a double house, with an extension; yet all this accommodation is better suited to a single parish than to the Episcopal Church of this city. An annual than to the Episcopal Church of this city. An annual collection from each parish, in addition to the regular subscription list, according to the annual report, would be sufficient to provide an adequate institution. The Rev. Dr. Beach occupied the chair yesterday. The Treasurer presented his report for the past year, which shows: receipts, $17,502 82; expenditures, $5,649 25; total amount subscribed for the building fund, $26,973 81. Dr. Morgan was elected a member of the Board of Managers in place of Dr. Vinton. Mr. D. C. Calvin and Mrs. Alonzo Cushman were added to the Board. All of the other officers and managers were reflected. The Rev. Drs. Beach, Morgan, H. C. Potter, Wm. Mc Vickar, Van Kleeck and Washburne were present. Drs. Potter, Van Kleeck and Parkman delivered short addresses.

Coroner Keenan, yesterday, at the New-York Hospital, took the aute-mortem statement of John H. last by James Nolan, a porter employed in the Cosmopolitan Hotel, at the corner of Chambers-st. and West Broadwas employed in the hat and coat room of the hotel, and was employed in the hat and coat room of the hotel, and while attending to his duties, Nolan came down-stairs from the floor above, having in his hand a pistol, which he seemed to be examining. Deyo asked to look at it, when Nolan, apparently in a spirit of fun, pointed the pistol at Deyo, and it was, in some unexplained manner, discharged, the ball entering the head of the lad, just above the right eye, and passing inward beyond the reach of the probe. There had been no ill-feeling between the two, and there is no doubt but that the shooting was the result of accident. The jury rendered a verdict that the lad was dangerously wounded by a pistol shot at the hands of James Nolan. The latter, who was arrested yesierday, was committed to the Tombs to await the result of Deyo's injuries. There is a strong probability that the boy will recover.
